The Honourable Margaret Birch,
Provincial Secretary for Social Development

December, 1976

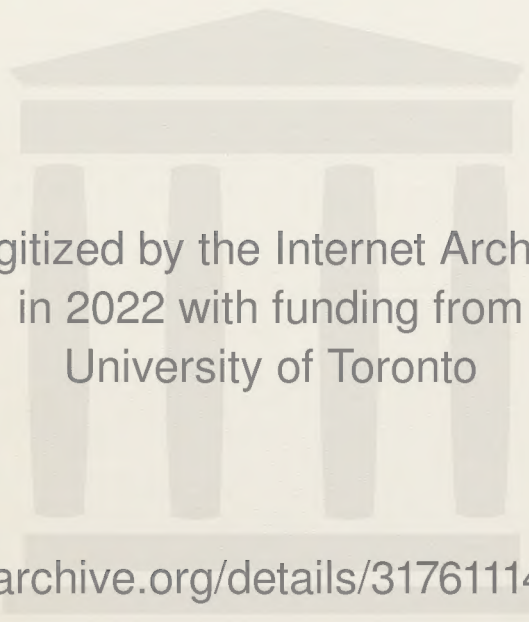

- INTRODUCTION -

This Directory has been compiled by the staff of the Inter-Ministerial Council for Troubled Children and Youth. It has been possible to collect and publish this information as the result of a survey conducted by the Council in 1976 and with the co-operation received from officials of the various ministries concerned.

Directories of services for children with varying needs are published by individual ministries. However, this is the first attempt to compile the information in one volume and as such, we hope that it will prove to be helpful as a resource for those seeking placements for troubled children and youth.

The Directory has been updated as of December, 1976. Due to periodic changes that occur, it is hoped that this publication will be revised on an annual basis. Suggestions for improvements either in the content or format are welcome and they should be forwarded to:

A. MINISTRY OF HEALTH - PSYCHIATRIC FACILITIES - THE MENTAL HEALTH ACT1. Regional Children's Centres

Regional Centres provide primary service for children up to age 16 in a local area and also serve as a secondary resource through the provision of back-up support to a wider catchment area, in addition to supplying specialized services for the total region. These services may include: assessment, diagnosis, residential, out-patient and day care treatment, emergency service, professional education, community education, and consultation to local agencies.

2. Children's Mental Health Centres

These Centres are licensed under the Children's Mental Health Centres Act, and are administered by local Boards of Directors. They provide facilities and services on a residential and/or out-patient basis for children suffering from mental and emotional disorders.

(a) Residential Centres

These Centres offer 24-hour care and treatment in a live-in setting. Most Centres also provide on-campus educational facilities, day care and out-patient treatment.

(b) Non-Residential Centres

Provide a wide variety of day care and out-patient services for children living at home. Treatment programs may include family therapy, crisis intervention, special education and therapeutic pre-school programs.

3. Psychiatric Hospitals

Many psychiatric hospitals have special units for the provision of therapeutic, educational and recreational needs of children and adolescents undergoing psychiatric care. A variety of services may be offered such as pre-assessment, in-patient and residential treatment, day care and follow-up services depending on the setting.

4. Family Court Clinics

These specialized clinics are available for use of the Juvenile and Family Courts in several selected centres in Ontario. After the referral of a Judge, an experienced team provides a thorough assessment of the psycho-social situation to determine the needs of the child relative to his physical, emotional, social and educational requirements to secure the best possible consultative, preventative and remedial services for the young people in conflict with the law.

Note: There is no fee charged directly to the client for the services of a facility designated under the Mental Health Act.

This edition of the Directory does not include the Child and Adolescent units of the Public General Hospitals.

B. MINISTRY OF COMMUNITY AND SOCIAL SERVICES

1. The Children's Institutions Act

The Ministry of Community and Social Services makes grants towards the construction or acquisition of buildings for these programs. It also subsidizes approximately 80 percent of the average daily cost of operation for children placed by their parents or youth admitted on their own request.

This Act does not include residential treatment centres.

(a) Residences for Temporary Care

These programs serve children who are in need of temporary placement. Most children are placed in these homes by the parents, when a family crisis necessitates the youngster's residing outside the home. In most cases the residence arranges to accommodate all the children in a family.

(b) Residences for Troubled Children

These programs serve school children who are troubled and may be mildly disturbed. They generally exhibit behaviour that makes them unacceptable in their own home or a foster home. Nevertheless, it is expected that they will be able to benefit by a residential setting until they can return to the community.

5. Developmental Services Act, 1974

Mental Retardation Facility Services Division

The purpose of the Mental Retardation Facilities Services Division is to provide a full range of high quality treatment and training programs and services in facilities for persons with developmental disabilities; conducting research, education, prevention programs and supporting the development of community-based programs.

The Division is responsible for the funding and direct operation of 19 Schedule I facilities which provide care, treatment, and training to some 7,000 developmentally handicapped persons as well as ten Schedule II facilities whose operations are 100 percent funded by the Ministry but operated by community boards. Some 900 developmentally handicapped persons, mainly severely and profoundly retarded children, are cared for in the Schedule II facilities.

Among the varied services offered by the facilities are:

- assessment and diagnostic services;
- community services;
- crisis intervention;
- parent relief ;
- residential care and training programs plus specialized treatment and training;
- research and education into etiology of mental retardation, thereby reducing incidence and severity of this developmental disability;

- nursing, medical care and treatment programs;
- behaviour modification programs;
- consulting and advisory services in support of care and treatment programs;
- parental and staff instruction programs for the care and training of the mentally retarded;
- vocational and personal skills training;
- recreational and social activities.

These programs and services are designed to rehabilitate the individual to his or her potential in order to facilitate a return to community living.

C. MINISTRY OF CORRECTIONAL SERVICES

The Ministry of Correctional Services has jurisdiction over adult offenders (16 years of age and over) sentenced to institutional terms of less than two years, juveniles admitted to training school by the Provincial Court (Family Division), and all adults and juveniles who receive a term of probation.

1. Training Schools

There are eleven training schools in Ontario, of which four are presently coeducational, and all but several of the specialized programs, such as that at the maximum security school for boys, will become coeducational in the near future.

2. Adult Correctional Centres, and

3. Regional Detention Centres

The 52 institutions for adult men and women include 37 jails, 3 detention centres, 10 correctional centres, 2 adult training centres, 4 forestry camps, and 2 specialized clinics.

All jails are maximum security institutions, detention centres provide both maximum and medium accommodation, and other facilities vary from maximum to the comparatively open setting of the forestry camps.

4. Probation and Aftercare - Juveniles

Juveniles on probation, as well as those on placement in the community from a training school, are supervised by probation/aftercare officers, who also provide comprehensive social and family histories on juveniles who are appearing before a judge.

5. Probation and Parole Services - Adult

The probation/parole service for adults is responsible for providing pre-sentence reports on persons appearing before a judge for disposition of their cases and for supervision, counselling, and other assistance to adult offenders on temporary absence from an institution, on parole, or on probation.

6. Group Homes

In addition to the training school facilities, 33 group homes provide accommodation in the community for approximately 210 young persons in the Ministry's care.

7. Community Resource Centres

These homes provide a community based living situation. The Temporary Absence Program frequently operated from one of the Ministry's 20 community resource centres for adults, makes possible a controlled transition back into the community.
